MORE WORDS FROM BLAINE.

The New York World has published an interview which Mr. T. C. Crawford has had with Mr. Blaine in Florence, regarding his withdrawal from the presidential race. Mr. Crawford has been with Mr. Blaine very much of the time during the latter's sojourn in Europe. He is a warm friend of Mr. Blaine, and although a democrat, and representing a democratic paper, he has never betrayed the confidence of the man from Maine. Therefore Mr. Blaine has month after month conversed with Mr. Crawford as freely and frankly as he would with William Walter Phelps.

The spirit of the interview is manly and free from bitterness on the part of Mr. Blaine. He distinctly asserts that under no circumstances whatever would he allow his name to be used in connection with the next presidential nomination. He insists upon the sincerity of his withdrawal and asserts that he had made up his mind thereto long ago. He considers, first, that any man whose name has been associated with a defeat in a presidential campaign owes it to his party not to allow himself to be renominated; and secondly, he is unequal to facing the fatigues, worry and excitement of another canvass, all the more as he would feel himself bound to work as hard as on previous occasions. Mrs. Blaine and the other members of his family are most emphatic in their approval of his withdrawal, which is definitive and neither hasty nor recent in its decision.

Mr. Blaine still insists that his declination in his letter was sincere, that his words there were not made in a haphazard, careless and off-hand way, that he meant what he said, and that months ago he had practically made up his mind to forbid the use of his name in the coming election. Mr. Crawford then produces some language from Mr. Blaine which is given verbatim:

You have no idea what a relief it is to me to think that I am now out of the canvass, and that when I come back to New York in the summer I shall not be going back there to face reception after reception and to enter into the turmoil and excitement of a political canvass. I can now come back quietly, after the convention has once decided the result, and enjoy my own life in my own way, free, I hope, from further criticism or comment.

Whether Mr. Blaine shall be a candidate or not, he cannot escape royal receptions. He will be as much surprised as Lafayette when he visited this country for the last time in 1824, at the request of President Monroe and the congress of the United States. Lafayette was then an old man, and was as modest as he was great. Before the ship on which he crossed the Atlantic reached New York, he asked one of the passengers with whom he became acquainted, what public house would be a proper one for him to stop at, and whether he thought there would be a cab or a carriage at the wharf that he could hire to take his son and his secretary to a hotel. He was assured that there would be plenty of conveyances to meet the ship, and this seemed to put the venerable old man and distinguished soldier at ease.

When the vessel bearing Lafayette entered the New York harbor, the eyes of all on board beheld ships and public and private buildings decorated with flags. They were numbered by the thousands. On the wharf were thousands upon thousands of people. There was music by scores of bands and salutes from many cannon. It was all in honor of Lafayette, the modest and faithful one. He was borne through the streets of New York and through other cities, with magnificent demonstrations of popular enthusiasm, and everywhere his progress was a continuous triumphal procession.

Mr. Blaine may be modest enough to think that because he is out of the presidential race he will receive no receptions. But he will be surprised. His friends have not forgotten him, and when he returns to his home, he will be received in a fashion that will be worthy of one of the most distinguished Americans that ever crossed the seas.

WISCONSIN CANDIDATE.

Nearly every republican member of the lower house of congress has expressed himself in favor of Wisconsin's giving Governor Rusk a cordial support in the republican national convention. In an interview last Monday Senator Sawyer said that Wisconsin should give Rusk a strong backing. Unquestionably Senator Spooner is of the same opinion. Nine out of every ten republican papers in the state have spoken strongly in favor of his nomination, and expressed the belief that Wisconsin should show an unbroken front in his behalf. Papers all over the country are saying kind things of Governor Rusk in connection with the presidency, and more especially since it has become known that Blaine and Sheridan are not in the field. There is no room for doubt that Governor Rusk would make a popular candidate, and that is something that the party cannot afford to overlook this year—Sunday Telegraph.

The only man the republicans can elect to the presidency this year is a man of deep common sense, a man who represents the best spirit of the people, one who has an absolutely clean record, a man whose broad intelligence and well balanced judgment will enable him to discharge the duties of the office well, and one in whom the people have the fullest confidence. Governor Rusk is that sort of a man. He has the sturdy characteristics of Lincoln, and the practical statesmanship Thad Stevens.

When a man's character is above reproach, when his public career is unmarred by errors or blunders, when his military service is conspicuously good, and when his patriotism and his courage have been thoroughly tested, then he becomes a fit man to put at the head of a presidential ticket. It is for these reasons that the republican members of congress from Wisconsin, and both United States senators, the republican press of the state almost without exception, and many prominent journals and public men outside of the state, have suggested Governor Rusk's name for the presidency. He will receive the vote of the Wisconsin delegation, and is entitled to the hearty support of all the republicans in the state.

LET ALL JOIN THE CLUB.

The republicans of Janesville will meet to-night to organize themselves into a republican club. This is a timely action on the part of the republicans of Janesville. It will enable the republicans of this city to have representation at the convention of republican clubs which will be held at Madison in the middle of March.

One of the most effective plans on which to carry a national campaign is to organize republican clubs. They have a singular power in a campaign. They not only create enthusiasm, but they are the direct means of enlightening the party on all the important issues in the campaign. They keep the members in good trim for effective work. Their influence is felt beyond the old standbys of the party. It reaches out to young men who are just becoming voters and many of whom have no settled political convictions. The republican clubs of to-day are what the wide-awakes were in 1860, and are just as powerful a factor in arousing a spirit of enthusiasm and making the republican party strong as were the torches in that ever memorable campaign which gave this nation an Abraham Lincoln.

The republicans should turn out to-night, young and old and enroll themselves as active members of the club. The object is worthy of the best service the republicans can give it.

Chicago has had a tempest in a tea-pot, or something of that kind. The papers in that town have been devoting columns to Mayor Roche and the alleged slight he received at the Depew banquet and at the Central Music hall exercises. His friends claim that he wasn't invited to take a prominent place on the platform, and that at the dinner his ticket did not entitle him to a chief seat at the first table in the banquet hall. He was offered the head of table number two, but wouldn't go because he could not sit near Mr. Depew at number one. And it has taken many columns in the newspapers in the effort to straighten the matter, but it seems to be as unsettled as ever. When a man is offered a good dinner free of charge, it isn't for him to grumble and kick because he is not placed at the most conspicuous seat at the table. Then, Governor Oglesby felt hurt because he wasn't allowed to make a speech at the banquet. He was aching to be heard, and when Vice President Head, of the Union League, pulled Oglesby's coat tail and told him there was no time for speech-making, he did the company a kind service, but hurt the governor's feelings. Some men, when they go to such places, should be like the good little boy who goes into polite company—he should go to hear and not be heard.

How would this do? For president, Richard J. Oglesby, of Illinois; for vice president, Chauncey M. Depew, of New York.—Chicago Journal.—

But that would be putting the cart before the horse, or making the tail of the ticket ten times heavier than the head. The people do not want Richard J. Oglesby. His metal was tried two years ago, and he was found wanting.

William R. Morrison wants to run on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland. Let him run. It will afford him considerable gratification, and will not disturb the republicans.

TO REGULATE RAILROADS.

The Iowa House Adopts the Freight-Traffic Measure—Synopsis of the Bill.

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 27.—The House has adopted by unanimous vote the bill to regulate railroad traffic in Iowa, which has been under discussion since February 21.

[The act is a very voluminous document composed of sections of the Illinois, the Missouri and the inter-State commerce laws. It does not trench upon the question of how Railroad Commissioners shall be selected, but assumes that such a commission exists. It includes all lines of road and sleeping-car companies in its operations, ordains just charges, prohibits pooling and discriminations in every form, and requires the public posting of schedules. Claimants for damages may appeal to the commissioners to bring suit in any district court of this State. Violations of the provisions of the bill subject the guilty company to a fine not exceeding $5,000 nor less than $500 for each offense. The Commissioners' powers of investigation are broadly defined. They are also empowered to make maximum rates for freight, subject to a supplemental bill, which is drawn to establish a detailed maximum on a scale of a five-mile haul and for quantities ranging from 100 pounds to several car-load lots. The bill further provides that the board may require annual reports from all common carriers, subject to the provisions of this act, which shall show the amount of capital stock issued, amount paid therefor, dividends paid, surplus fund, the number of stockholders, funded and floating debts and the interest paid thereon, costs and value of the property, franchises and equipments, the receipts and expenditures and balances of profit and loss, in fact a complete exhibit of the financial operations of the carrier each year. Nothing in the act shall be construed to prevent railroad companies from issuing commutation, excursion or thousand-mile tickets; and it is made unlawful to charge more for transporting a car of freight than several cars of a like class of freight for the same distance and in the same direction, except that for the development of any new industry within this State the railroad company may grant concessions for an agreed number of car loads, to be approved by the Railroad Commissioners.

Nothing in the act applies to the carriage of property free or at reduced rates for the United States or this State or municipal government or charitable purposes or fairs, expositions, or the employes of said roads, the families or private property of said employes, nor does it prohibit reduced rates to ministers, or free transportation of persons in charge of live stock from point of shipment to destination and return. The Railroad Commissioners are also to be furnished free transportation. Ten thousand dollars is appropriated for the next biennial period for the necessary expenses of the Railroad Commissioners in making investigations and prosecuting suits.]

THE BURLINGTON ENGINEERS.

The Great Strike Inaugurated at Four O'clock this Morning.

The Regular United States Mail Trains Not Interfered With.

How the Local and Suburban Trains are Moved—Freights Laid Up.

ON THE BURLINGTON.

Special to the Gazette

CHICAGO, Feb. 27th—At four o'clock this morning every engineer and fireman on the Burlington system quit work. The only passenger train arriving at the Union depot was the Aurora suburban. The engine was manned by Trainmaster Pope as engineer and Walter Bessler, a son of the general superintendent, as fireman. The train was due at 7:45 and arrived only fifteen minutes late, but the passengers were all pleased to get into the city.

The next train was the Downer's Grove suburban, Master Mechanic Smith, engineer, and Superintendent Howland fireman. The only train leaving the city was the "fast mail," which was manned by the regular engineer and fireman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. There will be no trouble in that direction, as they would be liable to criminal action should they interfere with the mails.

Freight trains all along the road were stopped in response to posted advertisements.

Twenty-five or thirty engineers claiming to have had experience in railroading, have already applied for situations—not one member of the Knights of Labor.

The company advertised yesterday in New York for engineers. Not one word has been received from Reading, where the strikers promised to send several hundred competent men. The company hope to run out four suburban trains this afternoon. The company has its hands full in looking to the getting of passenger trains running. They don't know how soon they will be able to forward freight. A large force of police are at the depot and yards. Not a wheel is moving along the entire Burlington system

BUFFALO FIRE.

Special to the Gazette.

BUFFALO, Feb. 27th.—A fire broke out at an early hour this morning in the Curtis building, Exchange street, and destroyed several buildings, including the offices of the Michigan Central railway and Empire Freight line, also stores and several tenements whose occupants narrowly escaped. Many people are thrown out of employment by this fire.

READY FOR THE TOMB.

Arrangements Completed for the Corcoran Obsequies—The Funeral to Take Place Monday Afternoon at Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington—The Pall-Bearers—The Dead Man's Wealth.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The late W. W. Corcoran some time before his death gave directions as to his funeral, and in accordance with these directions it will be of a private character and take place from the Corcoran residence, corner of H street and Connecticut avenue. The general arrangements have been completed. The funeral service will take place at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Leonard, pastor of St. John's Church, of which Mr. Corcoran was a communicant, will officiate. The remains will be borne this afternoon from the house to Oak Hill Cemetery, and deposited that evening in the chapel vault. The following day they will be lowered into the marble tomb or mausoleum that crowns an eminence in the cemetery and which was erected years ago by Mr. Corcoran. In this tomb the body of the dead philanthropist will repose beside those of his wife and daughter, to whose memory he paid loyal and beautiful devotion until the end of his long life. The remains have been embalmed. Directions were also given for the casket in which the remains will be entombed. This will be plain but rich, covered with black and lined with satin, similar to the one in which General Logan was buried, without the draperies which ornamented that. On the lid will be a simple silver plate bearing the following inscription:

WILLIAM WILSON CORCORAN,
Born Dec. 27, 1798.
Died Feb. 24, 1888.

Mr. Corcoran also in his directions for his funeral named those whom he desired to officiate as honorary pall-bearers. These men are Judge Loring, General W. H. Lee, John W. Burke, of Alexandria, George Bancroft, Dr. J. C. Welling, Secretary Bayard, and Senators Beck and Morrill.

The provisions of Mr. Corcoran's will, it is said, will not be made public until after his burial, and may not be known outside of the family circle until the instrument be presented in court for probate. A man who has had business with Mr. Corcoran for many years told a reporter that the popular estimate of Mr. Corcoran's wealth was exaggerated. Mr. Corcoran's fortune, he thought, amounted to $3,500,000. He had disposed during his life of about $4,000,000 in philanthropic projects.

THE SAFE WAS EMPTY.

A Missing Wisconsin Merchant Who Is Supposed to Have Taken a Small Fortune Away with Him.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 27.—An expert who has been working on Johnson & Rockwood's safe at Sun Prairie, in this (Dane) county, has succeeded in opening the safe, but no money was found in it. It is now supposed that Johnson took nearly $10,000 with him. There was over $4,000 in the safe the night that Johnson disappeared. No trace has been found of him. The fact that the safe was found empty explodes the idea that Johnson had been foully dealt with. Johnson has been missing for several days. He held many deposits in trust, the aggregate of which can not be guessed at. The school district treasurer had the entire available school fund deposited there—about $1,000.

Blaine Declares There Is No String to His Withdrawal.

AN INTERVIEW ON HIS FAMOUS LETTER.

He Once More Positively Asserts That He Is Not a Candidate—No Defeated Republican Should Again Enter the Contest.

OUT OF THE RACE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The World contains a three-column interview with Mr. Blaine which has been cabled from Florence by Mr. T. C. Crawford, for some time the World's correspondent in Washington, and now in Europe. Mr. Blaine, in the course of a long conversation, distinctly asserted that under no circumstances whatever would he allow his name to be used in connection with the next Presidential nomination. He insists on the sincerity of his withdrawal, and asserts that he had made up his mind thereto long ago. He considers, first, that any man whose name has been associated with a defeat in a Presidential campaign owes it to his party not to allow himself to be renominated; and, secondly, he is unequal to facing the fatigues, worry and excitement of another canvass, all the more as he would feel himself bound to work as hard as on previous occasions. Mrs. Blaine and the other members of his family are most emphatic in their approval of his withdrawal, which is definite, and neither hasty nor recent in its decision. Mr. Blaine will not return from Europe until June and not until after the Republican convention. He declines to express himself on the subject of the Republican candidates in the field, but asserts that he did not retire in favor of any particular one of them. He is convinced of a Republican victory, basing his conviction in particular on the tariff question.

When Mr. Blaine was asked the direct question whether he would under any circumstances permit his name to be used again as a candidate, he replied in the most emphatic negative, but then added: "I do not wish to make any new affirmations upon the subject. I have said all that I wish to say upon this subject in that letter. That letter, as you must know, was not a haphazard, off-hand affair. It was the result of much deliberation and careful thought. You will remember that I told you in Paris last December that I had no intention of being a candidate again, and that I had practically made up my mind at that time to forbid the use of my name in the approaching convention.

"I hold," he said later in the conversation, "that I have no right to be a candidate again. A man who has once been the candidate of his party and defeated owes it to his party to withdraw and not be a candidate the second time. More than this, there is another plain reason for my withdrawing. I could not go through the burden and fatigue of another Presidential canvass—such a one as the canvass of the last campaign. To accept a nomination, and to do less than before, would be impossible."

Mr. Crawford thus concludes his dispatch: "Toward the close of my last call I asked Mr. Blaine when he expected to return to America. He said that he expected to reach New York about the last of June. He expected to spend the late spring in London. He has not yet determined upon his movements. After leaving Florence he will probably go straight to England from Italy.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—A morning paper prints an article in reference to Blaine's statement in his Florence letter that he had personal reasons for not desiring the Presidential nomination. The article declares that the "personal" reasons are of a financial character, and that Mr. Blaine is not in a condition to meet the heavy expenditure which would be incident to a repetition of the campaign of 1884.

GLADSTONE ON AID TO IRELAND.

Discussing Recent Contributions from America—The Irish Vote in the United States.

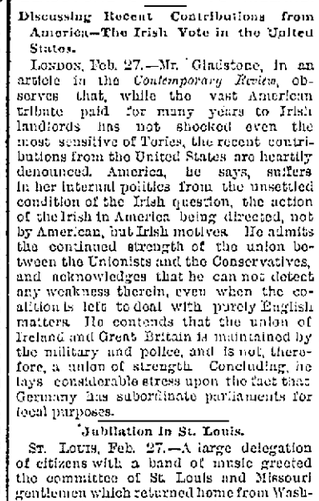

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Gladstone, in an article in the Contemporary Review, observes that, while the vast American tribute paid for many years to Irish landlords has not shocked even the most sensitive of Tories, the recent contributions from the United States are heartily denounced. America, he says, suffers in her internal politics from the unsettled condition of the Irish question, the action of the Irish in America being directed, not by American, but Irish motives. He admits the continued strength of the union between the Unionists and the Conservatives, and acknowledges that he can not detect any weakness therein, even when the coalition is left to deal with purely English matters. He contends that the union of Ireland and Great Britain is maintained by the military and police, and is not, therefore, a union of strength. Concluding, he lays considerable stress upon the fact that Germany has subordinate parliaments for local purposes.

Jubilation in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 27.—A large delegation of citizens with a band of music greeted the committee of St. Louis and Missouri gentlemen which returned home from Washington Saturday morning, where they had gone to bring to this city the Democratic National convention. The committee were escorted to the Southern Hotel where an elegant breakfast was served in the banquet hall and the travelers were given a royal welcome home. Acting Mayor Allen presided at the breakfast, and speeches were made congratulating the committee on their successful work and pledging the people of St. Louis to carry out all promises made by them.

Morrison for Second Place.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—A dispatch sent to the New York World says William R. Morrison, of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, has decided to become a candidate for Vice-President on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland, and during a meeting of the Democratic National Committee here this week announced his desire to several members of that organization whose support he solicited.

IDLE ENGINEERS.

The Great Strike Inaugurated on the C., B. & Q. System.

ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN QUIT WORK.

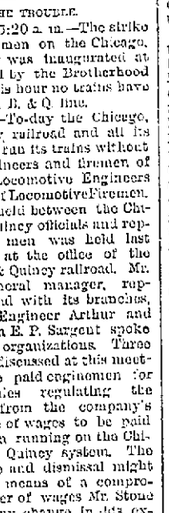

The Company Refuses to Yield to Their Demands and a Strike Is Ordered—Knights of Labor to Adopt Retaliatory Measures.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—3:20 a. m.—The strike of engineers and firemen on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy was inaugurated at 4 a. m., as threatened by the Brotherhood managers. Up to this hour no trains have left this city on the C. B. & Q line.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—To-day the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad and all its branches will have to run its trains without the help of the engineers and firemen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen. The last conference held between the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy officials and representatives of the men was held last Thursday afternoon at the office of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. Mr. Henry B. Stone, general manager, represented the railroad with its branches, while Grand Chief Engineer Arthur and Grand Master Fireman E. P. Sargent spoke for their respective organizations. Three points at issue were discussed at this meeting—the wages to be paid enginemen for overtime, the rules regulating the dismissal of men from the company's service, and the scale of wages to be paid engineers and firemen running on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy system. The questions of overtime and dismissal might have been settled by means of a compromise, but in the matter of wages Mr. Stone refused to make any change in its existing schedule. On the conclusion of this conference the engineers on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road and its branches were notified by Messrs. Arthur and Sargent to strike at 4 a. m. on Monday, February 27, 1888, unless notified to the contrary. Since Thursday Messrs. Arthur and Sargent have waited for some action on the part of Manager Stone tending toward a settlement of the difficulty, but as nothing has been heard from him the orders previously given to the engineers are in force and the strike is on. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad system operates over 4,000 miles of track. In addition to the main line it controls the Burlington & Missouri River railroad in Nebraska, the Hannibal & St. Joseph railroad, the Kansas City, St. Joseph & Council Bluffs railroad and the Chicago & Iowa railroad. Over this great length of track the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road runs nearly 800 locomotives, operated by 2,000 engineers.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers numbers about 25,000 members—the total number of engineers in the country being in the neighborhood of 30,000. At the head of the brotherhood is the greatest labor organizer in America, P. M. Arthur. In April the brotherhood will be twenty-five years old. From twelve members it has grown to 25,000. In eleven years this is the first strike Mr. Arthur has been unable to settle.

P. M. ARTHUR.

The elevated railroad strike was not under his direction and was inaugurated in defiance of the rules of the order. It was not successful. The policy of the order has always been pacific. The order is the richest in this country and best able to maintain a long struggle.

Perhaps the most remarkable element of the strike is its peaceable character. The managers of the brotherhood—for the firemen are also in the strike—were the coolest men in town yesterday. The firemen are nearly as strong as the engineers and are virtually controlled by the latter. If the road can get the men to run its trains, neither Mr. Arthur, nor Mr. Sargent, grand master of the firemen, will lift a hand. No whispered councils or secret caucuses were held at the Grand Pacific last night. No threats of resistance were made.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock yesterday morning S. E. Hoge, chairman of the grievance committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers on the Burlington system, and J. H. Murphy, chairman of the grievance committee of the firemen, called on General Manager Stone at the company's offices and gave him verbal notice that unless their demands were acquiesced in the men would strike at 4 o'clock this morning. Mr. Hoge briefly stated what the men wanted. Mr. Stone heard them through and asked if that were the ultimatum. They said it was.

The differences between the engineers and the road have been under discussion for four weeks, and Mr. Stone was familiar with them. The engineers demand that all be paid the same wages. The company at present classifies its men and grades their wages. First-year men, those just promoted from firemen, receive certain wages, estimated on the miles run, and second-year men a higher price per mile. Full engineer's wages are not paid until the third year. The engineers claim that the Burlington road pays less than many third-class roads. All the roads centering in Chicago, except the Burlington, pay their engineers according to the Brotherhood schedule.

During all the weeks of negotiation Mr. Stone has not been idle. An agent of his road went to Reading, Pa., and employed all the men he could who had recently been thrown out of employment by the strike on the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Company. Other points were reached by telegraph offering work to idle engineers. Every man in the shops who could manage an engine was ordered to be ready to go out with one. Applicants for jobs as engineers got them in a hurry. Early last evening the officers of the road said they had enough men to run three trains each way. The company has been running twenty-six such trains daily.

The chief depots or round-houses are located at Aurora and Galesburg, Ill.; Ottumwa, Burlington and Creston, Ia., and Lincoln, Omaha and McCook, Neb. These cities are at the ends of working divisions of the road. Into the round-houses the abandoned engines will be run. At these points, also, the new men will go to work. At each city a committee of the Brotherhood will wait on the new men and offer them better wages to do nothing than to accept the company's terms. The policy of the strikers will be to appeal to the applicants for work on the general ground of mutual interests and sympathy, and failing in that, to attack the selfish side of the new men by offering them higher wages than the company will give.

The Knights of Labor threaten to aid the road to defeat the engineers. The Knights say the Brotherhood filled their places on the Reading and the Missouri roads when the Knights were fighting those corporations. The leaders of the Knights of Labor yesterday openly expressed their determination to get even. Chief Arthur said the Brotherhood has never done any thing to warrant any ill-feeling between the two organizations. "Our motto is: 'Mind your own business,'" he said. "We have not taken any part in their strikes and have not helped them for that reason. They have not aided us." The strike is not likely to involve any other roads, in the opinion of Mr. Arthur and Mr. Sargent.

General Worthy Foreman Richard Griffiths of the Knights of Labor was seen at his place of business, 231 Wells street, last evening, and was inclined to speak unrestrainedly concerning the strike and the effect it would produce in the ranks of the Knights. He was asked:

"How about the manner in which the Knights were treated by the Brotherhood during the Missouri Pacific strike two years ago? Did not the Brotherhood then replace about 200 Knights of Labor strikers?"

"Yes, they most certainly did."

"And do you not think that but for this action on the part of the Brotherhood that the strike, as inaugurated by the Knights, would have proved a success?"

"There is very little doubt on that point. The same thing has just happened in the Reading strike, as every one who reads a newspaper knows. Just as soon as the strike was declared on the Brotherhood began filling the vacancies. These actions on the part of the Brotherhood do not naturally tend to cement more closely the relations already existing between them and the Knights. 'Tit for tat' is a game that people of our day like to indulge in, and I don't see why the Knights should be exceptions. If the locomotive engineers in our body see fit to accept positions on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad they most certainly are entitled to do as they please. It is a matter resting entirely in their hands, and with which we as a body have nothing to do. The adoption of retaliatory measures is not a new thing, and I honestly admit that I would not be surprised if they were brought into use by the Knights."

A dispatch from St. Louis indicates that the Knights at that point express an entirely different sentiment toward the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers from that expressed in the interview with Mr. Griffiths. John J. McGurry, one of the leading spirits of the Knights of Labor there during the former strike, when asked last night what attitude the order would assume toward the striking engineers, said that the Knights of Labor at St. Louis would sustain the engineers. They would not adopt retaliatory measures toward the Brotherhood, but preferred to return good for evil.

A dispatch from Philadelphia says that the striking Reading employes, while speaking bitterly against Chief Arthur, do not mean to antagonize the Brotherhood.

READING, Pa., Feb. 27.—An agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad has been in Reading, Pottsville, Shamokin and other towns here for the last few days getting engineers and firemen to take the place of Burlington employes if the latter strike Monday. It is learned that he has made contracts with 101 engineers, who will leave for Chicago to-night. It is asserted by the Knights of Labor that seventy additional engineers were hired south of Reading. The offers made by the agent are said to be very tempting, and if the men do not leave in a body it is believed the majority will go if ordered to do so. Members of the Brotherhood of Engineers are very angry that these men are going to take the places of the Burlington employes.

These engineers who have been engaged by the Burlington agent are the employes of the Reading who struck a few months ago. In the trouble on the Reading road in 1877 these men took the places of the strikers at that time. They were refused membership in the Brotherhood of Engineers and joined the Knights of Labor. When they struck lately the men displaced in 1877 came back and took their places. This caused bad feeling between the Brotherhood and the Knights, and the result is seen in the willingness of the present Reading strikers to take the places of the Brotherhood men on the Burlington. Besides the large number of engineers out of employment there are nearly as many old firemen, many of whom are qualified to man engines. It is safe to say that the Reading strikers could man 400 engines easily and furnish as many crews.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—Captain George L. Eastman, National Organizer of the Knights of Labor, says that the executive committee of the Reading railroad strikers has notified General Manager Stone of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad that in the event of a strike on his road and the failure of Chief Arthur to withdraw the Brotherhood engineers who took the places of strikers on the Reading road it will send him 300 engineers.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 27.—A number of the striking engineers and firemen of the Reading railroad of this city and Palo Alto have left for Chicago to take service with the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad in view of the strike of the Locomotive Brotherhood engineers of that road. The Reading engineers are Knights of Labor and are eager to revenge themselves upon the Brotherhood, members of which organization took their places at the time of the Reading strike.

MILLIONS IN MEXICAN LANDS.

Title of American Citizens to Several Towns and Fertile Valleys Confirmed.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 27.—Dispatches have been received in this city from the City of Mexico by the attorneys of Mrs. Burton and her son, H. B. Burton, stating that President Diaz has revoked the order of the Government as issued by Carlos Pacheco, Secretary of Public Works and Colonization, on April 5, 1887, granting the title of the tract known as Ensenada De Todos Santos to the International Company of Hartford, Conn. This tract, which comprises about 800,000 acres, and includes the towns of Ensenada, San Carlos, City of Punta, Banda, and the Mandadero and San Rafael valleys, has long been in litigation. President Diaz's order practically confirms Mrs. Burton's title to the property, the value of which is estimated at $10,000,000.

Tehuantepec Ship Railway.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 27.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Tehuantepec ship railway is being held here to consider the advisability of negotiating a loan of $25,000,000 in Europe. Among those in attendance are Hon. William Windom, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, and Congressman John Rice, of Massachusetts.

New Mexico Wants to Be a State.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 27.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of this county was held in the opera-house here Saturday night, in which resolutions were adopted favoring the admission of New Mexico to the Union. The people of New Mexico are a unit in favor of self-government.

Panic in a Synagogue.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—A dispatch from Warsaw says that a panic was caused in a Jewish synagogue there Saturday by a false alarm of fire, and that in the struggle to escape four women were killed and sixteen other persons seriously injured.

Minnesota Veterans.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 27.—The encampment of the Grand Army closed Saturday. J. H. Ege, of Minneapolis, was elected commander. Resolutions urging the establishment of a pension office in Minnesota and indorsing the Disability Pension bill were passed.

Failure in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The old and well-known firm of J. S. Gans & Co., tobacco brokers, of 131 Water street, have suspended. They are reported to owe about $40,000 in the trade to about ten creditors. The firm will probably resume the business under the same name.

Died Together.

BRAZIL, Ind., Feb. 27.—John M. Harper and wife, of Riley township, Vigo County, died Friday of pneumonia, both having been sick five days. Their married life covered fifty years, spent on the farm on which they died.

How Men Die.

If we know all the methods of approach adopted by an enemy we are the better enabled to ward off the danger and postpone the moment when surrender becomes inevitable. In many instances the inherent strength of the body suffices to enable it to oppose the tendency toward death. Many, however, have lost these forces to such an extent that there is little or no help. In other cases a little aid to the weakened lungs will make all the difference between sudden death and many years of useful life. Upon the first symptoms of a cough, cold or any trouble of the throat or lungs, give the old and well known remedy—Boschee's German Syrup, a careful trial. It will prove what thousands say of it to be, the "benefactor of any home."

THEIR VOICE FOR WAR.

Plans to Rescue Venezuela from British Rule.

A FILIBUSTERING SCHEME DETAILED.

Millionaires Mackey, Flood and O'Brien Said to Be at the Head of the Movement—An Army of Americans to Emigrate to Venezuela.

A HIGHLY SENSATIONAL STORY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A sensational two-column story appears in the World to the effect that a filibustering expedition is being planned here to aid in rescuing Venezuela from English rule. It declares that an American syndicate representing $10,000,000, headed by Mackay, Flood and O'Brien, having its eye for many years on the trail running between the Orinoco river and the rich mining district of Caratal, Venezuela, attempted some time ago to establish a steamer line between New York and the mouth of the Orinoco river with a rail connection of 400 miles, thence to Caratal, when the action of the British Government interfered to prevent the consummation of the scheme. It is now proposed to raise a force under Colonel Gibbons to aid 60,000 Venezuelans, who are said to be ready for armed resistance, the whole to be commanded by General Maciver. Dynamite is to be employed in the warfare proposed.

Colonel Gibbons, who has an office on Broadway, talks very belligerently. He says the Venezuelans are for war and will fight. The annexation league will hold a conference here within sixty days, and representatives will be present from every South American State, and there will be a demand on this country for protection and an annexation scheme be considered. The conference will be authorized to demand from this Government positive assurance that any invasion of their country by conquest or otherwise from Great Britain will be stopped.

"Has the question been presented to President Cleveland?"

"It has," said the Colonel. "He is a strong advocate of the Monroe doctrine. He even goes further. The Venezuelans, who know, through their representatives, how he feels in the matter, call it 'the Cleveland doctrine.' He believes that the United States should protect the South American Republic from foreign invasion, conquest, or encroachment. At least he has so expressed himself to prominent members of the Annexation League."

That Colonel Gibbons is satisfied with the warlike outlook is abundantly proven by his own statements.

"If it were necessary," said he, "I could raise an army of 100,000 Irishmen in this country to resist Great Britain. They are ready at all times to strike a blow at the English Government, and are heartily in sympathy with us in this Venezuelan movement."

He says that he has recruited 5,000 Americans of undoubted courage who will proceed to Venezuela under his leadership and take positions as commissioned and non-commissioned officers in the inevitable conflict with Great Britain. And when they get there they will not according to his statements, be in a defenseless condition, for within the past month 60,000 stand of improved firearms have been purchased by the California syndicate and shipped to Venezuela to be used in the war. The same syndicate, by the way, will also guarantee, so the Colonel says, all soldiers who go from this country $20 a month during their term of service. To evade the neutrality laws, the army (big or small as the case may be) will be shipped south, labeled, every mother's son of them, as emigrants, but their kits will consist of revolvers and other likewise peaceful agricultural implements.

IN THE HOUSE.

Mr. Bland Objects to Reducing the Surplus by Erecting Expensive Public Buildings.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mr. Springer (Ill.) called up the "omnibus" Territory bill in the House Saturday morning, and the measure was advocated by Mr. Mansur (Mo.). No action was taken, and the floor was given in committee of the whole to the Committee on Public Buildings and grounds. The first bill, one appropriating $75,000 for a public building at Chattanooga, Tenn., was opposed by Mr. Bland (Mo.), who criticized the manner in which the House acted upon measures providing for the erection of public buildings. It was disposing of the surplus instead of reducing taxation. The bill was finally agreed to. When the next bill appropriating $250,000 for the purchase of a site for a public building at Buffalo, was taken up Mr. Bland took occasion to renew his attack upon the tariff and to advocate the reduction of the surplus by the payment of the bonded debt. He appealed to the House to cease its waste of money on these public buildings, and to come down to the Democratic doctrine of economy and reduction of taxation. He referred to the President's message—a reference which was received with applause on the Democratic side—and as a Democrat denounced every attempt to take the people's money from the Treasury by the Blair Educational bill, public building measures, and other squandering propositions. The next bill was the Senate bill, appropriating $1,200,000 for a building at Omaha, with a proposed substitute appropriating $500,000 for the purchase of a site, but making no appropriation for the building. Mr. Bland, by offering numerous amendments, prevented a vote being taken on the bills, and, the committee having arisen, the House, without action on them, at 5:10 adjourned.

The Cold-Water Convention.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Representative Prohibitionists in this city are considerably chagrined over the fact that the date set for the National Democratic convention at St. Louis is the same upon which the National Prohibition convention will assemble at Indianapolis. They fear that the importance of their own gathering will be overshadowed by that of the Democrats, and that the press will have but little space for the doings of the cold-water people. It is not improbable that an effort will be made to change the date of the Prohibition convention to some time in July.

Another Blizzard.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 27.—One of the most severe storms of the season raged Saturday afternoon and all Saturday night through Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Eastern and Central Dakota. There was generally a light fall of snow, and the wind which blew at a forty-mile an hour rate so filled the air with snow that business and traffic were practically suspended. Trains on most roads are behind time and in several instances travel is suspended.

Three Children Cremated.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 27.—Three children of P. P. Miller were burned to death Friday night at Annandale, Minn. They were alone in the house when it took fire.

That Highway of Nations.

The broad Atlantic, is ever a stormy thoroughfare. Yet blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so lustily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the centres of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, seasickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains and in fact all old salts and veteran travelers are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far west should use it as a safeguard against malaria. Seek the aid of the bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital powers.

THE CHINESE FLOODS.

Terrible Destitution—Thirty Thousand Inhabitants Living in Huts—Four Thousand Laborers Drowned While Repairing Damages Caused by the Overflow of the Yellow River—Two Hundred and Fifty Deaths from Small-Pox.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The steamer San Pablo arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama Saturday morning. Few additional details are given of the second disaster at Yellow river, which occurred December 4 and resulted in the drowning of three mandarins and 4,000 Chinese laborers. The men were at work at the time repairing the damage caused by the previous floods, and 2,000 bamboo rafts had been laden with stones in order to form a breakwater, but the rafts, with all the workmen upon them, were engulfed as soon as they reached the middle of the river. Great suffering is reported from the flooded districts. Cold weather came on, and the whole country was soon flooded over, making it impossible for boats to reach the villages. In all the large cities huts have been erected by the authorities for the accommodation of the sufferers. Between 30,000 and 40,000 are being thus housed and fed in the city of Chochia Kin. The whole country is a sad spectacle, and stories of suffering and destitution come from every direction. It is estimated that 20,000 stacks of millet stalks will be needed to stop the great gap, each stack requiring fifty large carts to bring it to the spot. So far the utmost exertions have not succeeded in collecting more than thirty stacks a day. Eight million taels already have been expended on repairs.

The small-pox continues to spread in Hong Kong. About 250 deaths occurred during January.

SAW-DUST MAGNATES.

Men Who Have Made Big Money in the Green-Goods Business.

One of the things connected with police supervision of the criminal classes in New York, which to the mind of the ordinary citizen is difficult of comprehension, is the success which attends the operations of the "green goods" men in this city, says the New York Graphic. The covetousness and hunger for the acquisition of wealth by any means, however disreputable, which characterizes some men here and there in the back country settlements will easily account for the influx of visitors who come here to seek the means by which they hope to rob their own neighbors. But no clear explanation has ever yet been given as to the reasons why the men who have grown rich upon the spoils gathered from these dupes escaped from the penalties of the law so long.

They are as well known to the detective force of the Central Office and to the various precinct detectives as the burglars and thieves who are under almost continual supervision and from whom are daily drawn the grist that supplies our State penitentiaries. Occasionally we read about the arrest of one of these swindlers, but with Sing Sing gaping for them they still linger unmolested along our public thoroughfares.

Half a dozen of them are rich men and have kept on growing richer in spite of the fact that the source from which they draw their income and their wealth is as well known to the police as it is to themselves. Their faces are not strange ones about the theaters and semi-fashionable cafes, and to the stranger they are in all externals types of the well-to-do men about town.

Take Charley Johnson for instance. There may be some exaggeration about the figures, but the sporting men who linger on the border line that runs between legal and illegal practices will tell you, with half envy, that during the past year this man Johnson has cleared nearly $50,000 in the business. He is a well-built fellow of about forty, neatly dressed, finely educated and is an offshoot of an old New England family, whose name he dropped long since.

Then there is Joe Little, who is perhaps one of the least successful of the well-known sharps in the "green goods" profession; a dapper, dudish, showy sort of a fellow, whom the veriest granger ought to be able to recognize as a gambler and confidence man. Yet he has gone along successfully enough and is credited with having pocketed fully $20,000 of other people's money during the twelve months that have just passed.

Harry Parmley is another of the leaders in this lawless trade. He is not a specimen of manly beauty by any means, still he would pass for a trim, well-kept business man of fifty, and the money he has gathered during the last six years from the credulous pocket-books of his dupes has made him a comfortably rich man. On any bright, sunny afternoon in these bracing winter days Mr. Parmley can be seen swinging gracefully along on Broadway, between Union Square and Thirtieth street, with the air of a man wholly at peace with himself and the world.

But Barney Maguire is recognized king of the "green-goods" men. Years ago he was a faro dealer in Mike Murray's place, and was a watcher for John Morrissey's game, both here and in Saratoga. No man ever gathered in a stake which he had not fairly won from the green table while Barney supervised the game, and no dealer ever lost a winning under Maguire's eagle eye. All the old gamblers in New York know him, and the new ones soon made his acquaintance. Many a luckless card manipulator has been staked by Barney until luck improved, and there are few sporting men better liked by his associates than this same burly, big-fisted, rough-looking fellow, who within the last few years, if half that is said be true, has laid aside over one hundred thousand dollars from the proceeds of his illegitimate business.

There are a dozen others less prominently known, but all of them are living on the fat of the land.

"How do they manage to make this money and yet escape from the meshes of the law?" said the wondering newspaper man to kindly-faced John Wilkinson, who is one of the most reliable and successful among the managers of the big detective agencies in this city.

"Oh, easy enough as the law now stands," replied Mr. Wilkinson. "You see, the prominent men you speak of are never at the front in any of those sawdust transactions. Each of them is the leader of a gang of operatives, for the business needs a large force of employes. These are the men at the ferries and depots to note the coming of grangers, others farther up the street ready to get the tip from the watchers, the 'handshakers' who claim the stranger's acquaintance, the office people, the outside men, and a whole host of minor rogues who live on this public credulity.

"Of course the small fry make only their pickings and stealings, just as in corner politics and elsewhere, but the leaders grow rich on big and frequent profits."

"Can't the business be suppressed?"

"Well," answered Mr. Wilkinson, "as the law stands now the courts find it very difficult to send a man to State prison for this kind of swindling, and the sawdust man who fights hard is generally certain of acquittal. And they all do fight hard and have plenty of money to fee counsel. The methods of these fellows have been exposed time and time again, but the world is full of fools who are willing to believe they can get the best of these swindlers. They go into the attempt with their eyes open, and it costs them hundreds of dollars to learn how easily they have been gulled."

An Old But True Story.

It is an old story about the store sign that advises people not to go further and be robbed, but the average newspaper reader has regarded that story as a mere invention of the wits and as having no foundation in fact. At this very moment there hangs in the window of a second-hand furniture establishment on West Randolph street, Chicago, a placard which reads:

DON'T GO DOWN TOWN TO BE ROBBED,

BUT COME IN AND SEE US.

A House Made of Wire.

A house of wire lathing is one of the curiosities of the Manchester Exhibition. The architect is G. F. Armitage and the wire lathing is stated to resist fire. The wire lathing can be applied to any ordinary wooden beams, and it can be used for the partitions by itself; while wire cloths of various kinds form part of the same invention. It will be seen that the cottage if neat in appearance and, if fire-proof, it has at least one substantial property to recommend it.

PHYSICAL ENDURANCE.

How Clear Grit May at Times Prolong Human Life.

Survivors of Wrecks at Sea and of Wounds in Battle—Men Who Will Not Give Up—A Physician Relates His Experiences.

"Physical endurance is largely mental," said the doctor to a Chicago Herald reporter.

Every body applauded the paradox, without knowing what the speaker was driving at.

"It isn't the big man who can endure the most," he continued.

All the small men assented and all the big men dissented.

"I am led to make these remarks," said he, "by the fact that I have received a letter from a friend of mine who is now abroad, in which he describes the survivors of a wrecked steamer, sunk by collision in the British channel. He says that, to his surprise, they were not men of the greatest strength and size, but were many of them slender and far from robust. He says that this was particularly striking in the cases of those men who had been compelled to float about for hours in the icy water with nothing but a life preserver, a bit of wood or their own energies to keep them from drowning. It was their stick-to-it-iveness which kept them alive. You can't tell by looking at a man whether he can stand the strain of exposure, disease or injury. It is largely in his mind."

"Physical endurance may be a matter of experience," said he. "It is not wonderful that sick men survive where well men perish in cases of disasters on sea or land. Those who have suffered from sickness gain a patience that might well be their salvation when they are placed in circumstances of hardship and danger. They know what it is to suffer and will not give up, for they have learned something of the ultimate possibilities of human endurance. On the other hand, a man who has never experienced such physical affliction as comes from sickness might well believe that their sufferings, when tossed about by icy waves, passed the limit of human endurance. They would give up mentally before they were conquered physically."

"You think, then, it is largely a matter of the mind?"

"It may be a matter of inheritance," he replied. "You can tell a great deal about a man's power of resistance if you know his ancestry. Longevity is a good test. It is a fine thing for a man to have the power of a long-lived ancestry behind him. I make a point to get as much information as possible on this subject from my patients. It helps me to a knowledge of the forces that will fight with me against disease. I have two patients ill with pneumonia at this moment, and one of them will probably live while the other is likely to die. They were equally healthy before the attack, to all appearances, and I do not believe that one is more severely sick of the disease itself than the other is, but there is a difference in their vital force. One of them will endure to the very last of which his body is capable; the other will yield the battle before he is conquered."

"Is there any thing visible in a man that determines his power of endurance?"

"There is a difference in the arteries that can be seen. A man whose arteries are in good condition can, as a rule, endure much more than one who has begun to wear out in this part of his organism. You can't tell a man's age by the family Bible. Some men are older at thirty than others at forty; and if a man has begun to wear out he is not prepared to resist disease, physical exposure or a surgical operation. I saw the difference very plainly marked in the war. Some men would be shot all to pieces and would yet live, while others would die of slight wounds."

"A man once came to me," continued the doctor, "with an affection of the larynx. I examined him carefully, and with the greatest difficulty, for the great noise he made in his laborious breathing confused me in listening to the action of his lungs. I came to the conclusion—afterward shown to be correct—that the man was suffering from sternosis of the larynx, which in every-day language means a narrowing of the passages in that locality. He was not in danger of immediate death, but could not live long unless something was done for him. I decided that his lungs must have rest, and after securing that, I could see what might be done for the relief of his laryngial trouble. It was before the days of intubation, and I determined upon tracheotomy—or the cutting of an opening into the windpipe for the admission of air. The patient consented to the operation and was removed to the hospital dispensary, where it was performed with every indication of a favorable result. The patient was at once greatly relieved, and said that he felt very well. This was on a Monday afternoon. The next day every indication was favorable and on Wednesday equally so. I saw him in the afternoon and he was feeling greatly improved. Going down stairs from the ward in which he was I met one of the hospital physicians and spoke to him of the case. He visited the man, and a few minutes later spoke to another doctor who also saw the patient. Both regarded his chances as good. Almost immediately the nurse summoned me in the greatest haste and I responded at once. I found the patient weak and ghastly pale. His pulse was low; he was dying. In a few minutes he was dead, though from what cause I was greatly puzzled to determine. I had not in the least anticipated sudden death. The other physicians were equally astonished, and we decided to make a careful post-mortem examination. It was done, and revealed no cause of death. The organs of the body were all in a condition to perform their functions for some years. It was a mystery. I questioned the attendant more carefully and discovered that the condition of the man had remained good up to the visit of the last physician who had looked at him, but that after the doctor had gone the man muttered: "I must be pretty bad when three doctors call upon me in an hour," and had then at once relapsed into the condition in which I found him. There was no other explanation for it than that the man had been killed by the belief that he was about to die. He had been frightened to death."

New Building Material.

Building stones made of corn-cobs form the object of a new Italian patent. Ed Clerici, of Milan, is the name of the patentee. The cobs are pressed by machinery into forms similar to brick and held together by wire. They are made water-tight by soaking with tar. These molds are very hard and strong; their weight is less than one-third of that of hollow brick, and they can never get damp.

DEEP SEA WONDERS exists in thousands of forms, but are surpassed by the marvels of invention. Those who are in need of profitable work that can be done while living at home should at once send their address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and receive free full information how either sex, of all ages, can earn from $5 to $25 per day and upwards wherever they live. You are started free. Capital not required. Some have made over $50 in a single day at this work. All succeed.

DRUNKENNESS,

Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a speedy and permanent cure, wheth the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by FRANK SHERER, Druggist, 43 W. Milwaukee St. Janesville, Wis.

Invention has revolutionized the world during the last half century. Not least among the wonders of inventive progress is a method and system of Work that can be performed all over the country without separating the workers from their homes. Pay liberal; any one can do the work; either sex, young or old; no especial ability required. Capital not needed: you are started free, something of great value and importance to you, that will start you in business, which will bring you in more money right away, than anything else in the world. PAINT YOUR BUGGY for ONE DOLLAR

Use Only COIT & CO'S ONE-COAT BUGGY PAINT. Paint Friday, run it to Church Sunday. Eight Fashionable Shades: Black, Maroon, Vermilion, Blue, Yellow, Olive Lake, Brewster and Wagon Greens. No Varnishing necessary. Dries hard with a "shine." One Coat and job is done. Indispensable to Farmers, Livery-Stable Keepers, and Repair Shops. The greatest money-saving invention of the age. Excellent for Lawn Seats, Flower Pots, Baby Carriages, Screen Doors, Furniture, Store Fronts, etc. Just the thing for the ladies to use about the house. Avoid worthless imitations. We warrant ours not to turn white and to wear at least one year. A quart does a buggy complete.

COIT & CO'S HONEST HOUSE-PAINT

Are you going to Paint this year? If so don't buy a paint containing water or benzine when for the same money you can procure COIT & CO'S PURE PAINT that is warranted to be an HONEST, GENUINE LINSEED-OIL PAINT and free from water and benzine. Demand this brand and take no other. Merchants handling it are our agents and authorized by us, in writing, to warrant it to wear 5 YEARS with 2 COATS or 3 YEARS with 2 COATS. Our Shades are the Latest Styles used in the East now becoming so popular in the West, and up with the times. Try this brand of HONEST PAINT. You will never regret it. You run no risk. Every job and every gallon warranted.

FLOOR-PAINT that WONT DRY STICKY

Ever buy Floor Paint that never dried beyond the sticky point, waste a week, spoil the job, then swear? Next time buy COIT'S FLOOR-PAINT, 4 suitable shades, warranted to dry hard as a rock over night. No trouble. No swearing. Be suspicious when substitutes are offered by Dealers, stating that "they are as good" as ours. It is not so. Cheap imitations cost less, give more profit but no satisfaction, and life is too short to waste time and money on them. COIT & CO., of CHICAGO, Manufacturers

—All who desire to identify themselves with the republican party should attend the meeting at the council chamber this evening—called for the purpose of perfecting the organization of a republican club.

—Married—At the home of the bride's father, Mr. Freeman Arnold, town of Rock, February 22, by Rev. J. C. Gifford, Mr. Lewis Rumage and Miss Edith L. Arnold, both of the town of Rock, Rock county, Wis.

—The young ladies of the Congregational church will give a musicale and sociable at the residence of David Jeffris 106 Cherry street, Wednesday evening, Feb. 29th, at 7:30 o'clock. Admission 15 cents. Everybody invited.

—Mr. Frank Hennessey, aged 21, who has been confined to his home with consumption for some time, died at the home of his mother on Cornelia street, second ward this morning. The funeral arrangements have not been announced.

—Mrs. J. Frank Williams, who has been spending most of the winter with relatives and friends in New England, has returned home, and the general superintendent of construction of the water works is correspondingly happy.

—The Young Ladies' society of the Congregational church will give a musicale Wednesday evening, Feb. 29, at the residence of Miss Susie Jeffris, 106 South Cherry street. Admission 15 cents. An interesting programme has been prepared, and all are cordially invited.

—Jarbeau drew a very good audience at the opera house on Saturday evening—it being the second appearance of the company in "Starlight." The audience was kept in good humor throughout the performance. The company possess the ability to make fun to order. The company play this week in Chicago.

—Thomas Pratt has just completed the delivery of fifty cords of building stone at Forest Park, the stone being corded up in ten-cord piles on different lots. He now has a contract to deliver fifty cords more at the same place, by the first of May next. This indicates that twenty or more buildings will be built in Forest Park addition this season.

—Little Emma Bliss was the possessor of the lucky number which drew the French doll at the matinee of the Rogers company at Lappin's hall on Saturday afternoon. The company closed a most successful engagement Saturday evening, Miss Rogers proving herself and company worthy of the excellent patronage bestowed.

—Green Bay women are coming to the front. The following from the Gazette of that city explains: "Yesterday afternoon Mrs. C. B. Field was elected by the city school board to the position of superintendent of the Green Bay public schools. The selection is an admirable one, and will commend itself to popular judgment. Mrs. Field is a woman of education and culture, and has had the benefit of practicable experience in school matters."

—The Rev. T. DeWitt Peake, of Court Street church, delivered the first of a series of lectures, last evening, on "Jesuitism in Politics," not "Fanaticism in Politics", as announced. The lecture contained a concise and entertaining history of the founder of the order who figured conspicuously in the fifteenth century. The speaker classes the organization as political rather than religious, and dangerous because of its subtle influence and secret work. The lectures will be interesting and profitable to lovers of American institutions.

—This evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garrett in the fourth ward, Miss Kate Lutz and Mr. James Skelly will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The many friends of the young people will wish them joy and a prosperous journey through life.

The above item appeared in Saturday evening's Gazette, and was an injustice to the young lady whose name is connected therewith, as there was no foundation for the item, there being not a particle of truth in it. The item was brought to this office late on Saturday afternoon by a little son of Mr. Fred Feltz, who said his father sent him over with it, and requesting its publication. The boy was closely questioned, and his story coming straight, the item was taken and published in the Gazette. Mr. Feltz, the boy's father, now denies having had anything to do with the matter, only that he remembers that his boy told him he was going to give it to the papers, and that he did not interfere.

ARKESON PLEADS GUILTY.

He is Fined $20 for Holding Up Daniel O'Connell.

William Arkeson, who was Delaney's partner in the holding up of Daniel O'Connell, came before Judge Patterson to-day and pleaded guilty. The charge against him had been changed by consent of the authorities, however, to larceny. A fine of twenty dollars and costs were imposed, and the eighteen dollars taken from O'Connell were paid back.

RICH VS. RICH.

This morning the parties appeared in the circuit court. The defendant, Mrs. Rich, requested through her attorneys, to withdraw her answer in the case, and the court permitted that to be done. The case was then put upon the calendar and testimony taken, after which Judge Bennett made a decree in favor of the plaintiff dissolving the marriage between the parties and finding that all of the material allegations of the complaint were true. This is a final disposition of that case. It is supposed to have been brought about by some arrangement between the parties.

WHAT THE WIND WHISPERS.

That the weigh of the transgressor must be the one the butcher sells by.

That nothing gives a boy more mental discipline than to set him 'tending baby.

That this would soon be a changed world if man could but see his own back.

That if everybody had to practice what they preach there would be a good many of us taking back seats.

That as a rule the law seems made for the benefit of lightening rod men and Bohemian oat dealers.

That the cold is never quite so severe as it seems to be when talked over afterwards by a hot stove.

That people in search of perfect men should remember that very few of the present generation were born with wings. If they were they shed them very early in life.

That you can't always judge by appearances. The man with the black neck tie and the rusty Prince Albert may be a bunco-steerer; while the one in knee-sprung trousers and a disreputable slouch hat may be the new minister taking a day's vacation.

The Little Seed.

A little seed lay in the carter's path;
A little shoot bowed in the strong wind's wrath;
A little shrub grew, by its roots held fast;
Then a stout tree braved all the winter's blast.

A little cough started—'twas only light;
A little chill shivered the hours of night;
A little pain came and began to grow,
Then consumption laid all his brave strength low.

Be wise in time. Check the little cough cure the little ailment becomes the strong unconquerable giant of disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, taken in time, is a remedy for these ills.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer indicated 3 degrees below zero. Clear with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 10 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours last year the register was 35 and 21 degrees above zero. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 7 degrees below zero. Clear with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 8 degree above zero. Clear with northwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 5 and 20 degrees above zero.

What a Baltimore confectioner says: "I've had rheumatism in my arm for six months, and Salvation Oil made an entire cure of it, using less less than one bottle.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a staple article in the market. The demand for it was never greater than now. The people find it indispensable, and will not be without it at any price. Only costs 25 cents.

Western Passengers.

Western passengers should bear in mind that the Chicago & Northwestern railway is the only road furnishing a direct outlet, without tedious delays and lay-overs, between Janesville and Council Bluffs, Denver and all Colorado and California points.

The train leaving Janesville at 12:05 p. m. makes direct connections at De Kalb with the Northwestern main line train running through to Council Bluffs without change, and making direct connections there for all points west and southwest.

Full information can be obtained by applying to C. A. Potter, agent, Janesville.

NO MORE QUEER RACES.

Rock County's Agricultural Society to Join the National Trotting Association.

Jockeys Inclined to Playfulness Must Now Keep Both Eyes Open.

Steps are being taken to place the Rock County Agricultural Society track on the list of the National Trotting Association. It is believed that the expense will be more than made up in the improvement in the quality of the races.

As a rule, county fair races do not develop speed in the horses as much as they do ability in capturing the contents of the pool box. The agricultural societies have little connection with one another, and a driver could go from one town to another, and play the same game over and over again without fear. They could work in 2:40 horses in the three minute class and could drive to win, or not, just as they saw fit. Fines could be collected only with great difficulty and suspension from any other track was impossible.

It is believed that the Rock County Society's troubles on that score are now over. Once in the National association the track is under National association rules. Drivers not using their best efforts to win can be peremptorily ordered down and replaced by anyone whom the judges may choose. Failures to pay fines means suspension from all of the national association tracks; and the same is true of the underhand work that fair-ground judges are usually powerless to prevent.

But the speed department is not the only one in which the Rock county agricultural society directors are at work. Their premium list, which is now almost ready for the printers, shows this plainly. And a word should be said about the matter of restaurants, which was discussed a day or two ago. There is an excellent opening for at least two first-class establishments, and the necessary building lots can be secured on easy terms.

BEWARE OF SMALL-POX.

A Warning Circular From the State Board of Health.

Secretary Reeve, of the state board of health, has issued a circular to the local boards in Wisconsin in which he says that the state board has very recently received official notice of the occurrence of cases of small pox in nearly all the states contiguous to Wisconsin, and has also information, official and other, of the existence of that disease in various parts of the United States. In California it is so prevalent that it has been declared epidemic by the board of health of that state. The board adds: "As this disease may be contracted in one state and develop in one far distant therefrom, these facts are eminently suggestive of danger to us in Wisconsin, and they are furnished for the information of the local health boards in this state with the earnest suggestion that each board should watch with vigilance during the ordinary period of incubation of small pox (usually about fourteen days,) lest it develop in the persons of any who may reach their respective communities from abroad or after travel. It is further suggested that health boards everywhere urge upon all within their jurisdiction the advantages and protection to be derived from vaccination." Circulars printed in English, German or Norwegian, relating to the prevention and restriction of either small pox, diphtheria or scarlet fever may be had for free distribution on application to Secretary Reeve at Appleton.

"SHE" IN CHICAGO.

The production of "She" which will follow Kiralfy at the Chicago opera house will probably evoke more curiosity than any other during Chicago's dramatic season. "She" is a dramatization of Haggard's wierd and fantastic novel. The scenery is of the most elaborate character, the music of the piece is specially written and is in excellent accord with the nature of the story. There are over 45 fresh young voices in the company which includes altogether over sixty-five people. The representation will be a reproduction of the piece as given at Niblos' New York, and the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, where it met with unqualified success.

"OUT, DAMNED SPOT."

The movement has some sense in it after all. Eliminate all war history from the school books, restore "Mary's little lamb" and "The boy that stood on the burning deck". Surely these early and soul-stirring reminiscences ought to satisfy all the complainants.—Recorder.

Yes, the administration party would be only too happy could the United States history from 1861 to 1865 be wiped out. The least allusion made to the events of that period makes that party uneasy, and yet they answer such allusions with the cry of "bloody shirt"

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relied on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at F. Sherer & Co's. Drug store.

"SPRIG, GEDTLE SPRIG."

They Thought She Had Come, But She Fooled Them.

The last Friday in February was mild and serene. According to all rule and precedent, therefore, the month following should be mild and serene to correspond.

That was where Manager Ide and Chief Bass Drum Soloist Blay and Tambourine Virtuoso Ehrlinger, of the Home Mastodons were deceived. They walked down Milwaukee street arm-in-arm this morning, trying not to see the snow on the side-walk, and serenely confident that spring had come. They had entirely forgotten that the new month, for which so much was promised, did not begin until Thursday; and were on their way to learn what was new in linen dusters.

"Widter is dow over," philosophized Manager Ide as cheerfully as a severe cold would allow. "Widter is dow over, ad balby sprig is upod ee."

"Yes," said the second member of the trio, "the Joddy-jubp ups ad the bordid-glories are dearly id bloob. Ad, say, how these codfonded 'balby breezes' of yours do rud through a fellow's boustache."

"Thats whats the batter with Hadder," responded the the third. "Lets warble subthig about, 'Id the sprig-tibe gedtle Addie.' It bay swig this weather buisness aroud where it belogs."

But just then a vigilance commiitee armed with thermometers that showed eight below came along; and the tribute to "gedtle Addie" was suspended.

"WHITE-ROBED CHERUBS."

Leap Year Photographic Fancies Among Young Men.

"Leap year has brought out a good many reversals of the general order of things," says the Chicago Journal's "Street Stroller," "but I doubt if the one lately brought to my notice has penetrated any great distance so far. It became fashionable, not so very long ago, for the girl of the period to get herself photographed in more or less theatrical styles of attire—styles calculated to convey a more accurate impression of her charms than that afforded by the ordinary nineteenth century garb. The young men, it would seem, have now adopted the idea as their own peculiar property, and the result is that several young ladies of my acquaintance are in receipt of some highly interesting pictures. The young men are 'taken' in languishing attitudes, and in garments of a distinctly As-in-a-Looking Glass type. Muscular but suspiciously white throats are coquettishly exposed, and heads and eyelids droop in a fashion that must prove tempting enough to a recipient who enjoys an acquaintance with the subject. I looked last night on a picture of a group of four stalwart young men, arrayed in white robes de chambre, and noted with much pleasure the singularly striking effect produced. The young lady who admitted the ownership of the picture described it as 'too sweet for anything,' and she really looked as if she meant it. I am anxiously waiting to see what the new leap-year 'fake' the boys will spring next."

THE REPUBLICAN CLUB.

The committee of eleven, appointed to nominate officers for the Republican Club, held a meeting at the office of A. A. Jackson on Saturday evening, and after mature deliberation selected a strong ticket, which will be presented at the public meeting to be held at the council room to-night. An effort will be made to secure the name and hearty cooperation of every republican voter in the city, thus organizing a club that will be creditable to the party, and helpful in the campaign of 1888.

The state constitution has been adopted, which is in harmony with the Republican League of the United States. There is no excuse for factions in the contest before us, and every republican should work with the party for the success which is not only possible, but certain if united effort is maintained. The council room should be crowded this evening with republicans who are willing and ready for work.

Mr. A. Nichols suffered from catarrh for years. He purchased a bottle of Ely's Crerm Balm of us. He is now almost cured, and says you cannot recommend it too highly.—Evers Bros., Druggists, Independence, Iowa.

The New York Legislature Safe.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 27.—The massive stone ceiling of the Assembly Chamber in the $18,000,000 State Capitol, whose defective condition has been a cause of continual alarm to the Legislators, and a week ago brought about a recess of the two houses, is pronounced safe, having been substantially braced. The Legislature will therefore reconvene to-night, all danger of several hundred tons of granite crashing down from on high having been removed.

Libby Prison Purchased.

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 27.—William H. Gray, of Chicago, who has been in this city several days, closing the negotiations for the purchase of Libby Prison for the purpose of removing it to Chicago, on Saturday turned over to real estate agents having the property in hand $5,825, being the amount of the first payment, or one-fourth of the total purchase money. A deed of transfer will be signed to-day.

Dashed Into a Freight.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 27.—The limited passenger train on the Union Pacific known as the "flyer" ran into a freight train early Saturday morning at Colton, Neb. Michael Powell, engineer of the passenger train, was killed, and seventeen passengers were more or less severely injured.

A FARMER was thrown out of his sleigh by striking against a lamp post in Ionia, Mich. He was picked up insensible, but he still held his clay pipe between his teeth, and the first sign of consciousness was a puff at it. The fire hadn't gone out and he was still smoking as he left for home.

THERE are but three silver dollars of the coinage of 1804 in existence. Two of these are accounted for; the third is somewhere in circulation about the country. The value of this missing dollar of 1804, as quoted in the last numismatic circulars, is eight hundred dollars. It is natural, then, that this coin should be much sought.

The editor of a paper in Georgia blacklisted himself in his own paper as follows: "On and after date the undersigned gives notice that he will prosecute any person selling him intoxicating liquor of any kind to the full extent of the law. This is not for the purpose of injuring whisky-dealers, but to get sober and stay so."

A FASCINATING widow lately victimized the people of several Eastern cities to the extent of several thousand dollars by a bird-protection scheme. She obtained the signatures of wealthy persons pledging themselves to protect the birds from slaughter. The widow suddenly disappeared, and the signers found themselves confronted with promissory notes.

A COLORED man called on a dentist in Mansfield, Mass., to have a large brass shawl-pin extracted from the back of his neck, and was referred to a surgeon, who removed it with some difficulty. The patient, whose condition is pronounced critical, explains that he thrust the pin in his neck "as a cure for ring worms."

THE oldest mule in the world lives in Lanesville, Ky., and is known to be over sixty years old. No one knows how old he was when he emigrated from the old Dominion. "The old mule" had considerable reputation as a traveler before the war, having, it is said, done service over several States, and of his war history many mysterious stories are whispered about.

TWO CHICAGO women have conceived the bright idea of a ladies' down-town toilet-room. The two fell to scheming over the difficulties of arranging the toilet while out on business, and hit upon this solution to a much-vexed question. An apartment is to be furnished with all the necessities of a ladies toilet, from which men will be strictly excluded.

AT Bucyrus, O., a woman sold four rolls of butter to a firm of grocers. The latter laid the butter away in the cellar, and later on sold it, with another lot to a shipper. The shipper in cutting the stuff up found that the four rolls were not butter, but the most ordinary kind of mashed potatoes. She had molded the potatoes, frozen the rolls and smeared them with butter to give them a genuine appearance.

THE word cigar was derived from the Spanish cigarral, meaning garden. The old Spaniards used to grow tobacco in their gardens, and rolled it up for smoking. When offering a smoke to a friend they would say: "Es de mi cigarral"—It is from my garden. Soon the expression came to be: "Este cigarroes de mi cigarral"—This cigar is from my garden. And from this the word cigar spread over the world.

THE name John Bull, as applied to the English people, is first found in Arbuthnot's ludicrous "History of Europe," a book sometimes erroneously ascribed to Dean Swift. In this satire Arbuthnot calls the French Lewis Baboon and the Dutch Nicholas Frog. "John Bull," a comedy, by George Coleman, the younger, was performed in 1805. The John Bull, a Tory newspaper, supported by Theodore Hook, was first published in 1820.

HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

A FORMER sufferer from neuralgia recommends hot catnip tea as an excellent remedy for that painful affection.

CRACKER GRUEL.—Four tablespoonfuls of powdered cracker, wet with boiling water, add one pint of hot milk.

A PRETTY fancy for light curtains is to drape them with narrow scarfs or half handkerchiefs of their own material.

WINDOW shelves covered with cretonne and edged with a three-inch frill are handy to have about a room, even if you have no pot plants to go upon them.

EGG WAFFLES.—Sift together one quart of flour, half a teaspoon of salt, add the whites of six well-beaten eggs and one and a half pints of milk. Bake and sift over with white sugar.

POTTED SHANK.—Boil a shank of beef till tender, chop the meat up and season it with salt, pepper and (if liked) half a nutmeg. Reduce the liquor to three pints, add the meat, cool in a mold. It should turn out well when cold.

FOR hard gingerbread, take one cupful of sugar, one of butter, one-third of a cupful of molasses, half a cupful of sour milk or cream, one teaspoonful of saleratus, one tablespoonful of ginger and just flour enough to roll out thin. Cut in oblong pieces and bake quickly.

ONE ounce of lemon juice mixed with a quarter of a drachm of pulverized borax and a half drachm of sugar will remove freckles. Keep the lotion in a glass bottle, corked tightly, a few days before using, and apply to the freckles occasionally, and they will soon be removed.

PERHAPS one of the hardest things in the world to do is to make school-boys take proper care of their teeth. It should be a rule that no child old enough to perform his own toilet should have breakfast until his teeth are cleaned. It would save a good many dentist's bills in the future.

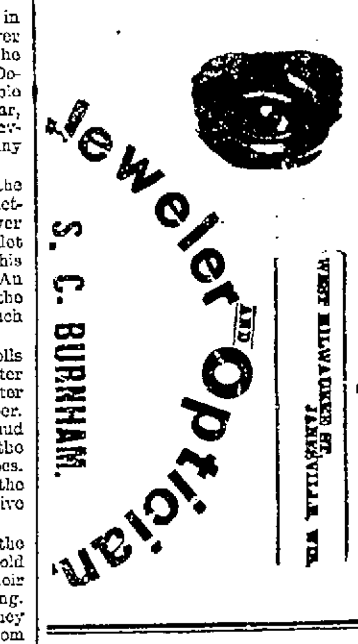

IT is a mistake to suppose that cold drinks are necessary to relieve thirst. Very cold drinks, as a rule, increase the feverish condition of the mouth and stomach, and so create thirst. Experience shows it to be a fact that hot drinks relieve thirst and "cool off" the body when it is in an abnormally heated condition better than ice-cold drinks.

SULPHUR is death to all fungoid growths. In diphtheria a teaspoonful thoroughly dissolved in a wine glassful of water and drank will in most cases remove all danger. If the patient can not gargle, take a live coal, put it on a shovel, and sprinkle a spoonful of flowers of brimstone upon it. Let the sufferer inhale by holding the head over it, and the fungus will die.

EGG CHEESE.—Half a pound of good English cheese. Beat three tablespoonfuls of bread-crumbs, soaked in cream, with three eggs, then add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a tablespoonful of made mustard, salt and pepper to taste, and lastly the cheese, grated. Beat all together lightly; spread evenly upon slices of toast, and brown quickly upon the upper grating of the oven. Strew a little minced parsley on top.

IN regard to washing a soiled cashmere dress a lady says: "I took two tablespoonfuls of ammonia to a pail of water, and rinsed it thoroughly piece by piece, without wringing; then put it in another pail, and treated it the same way for the second time. Without wringing and all dripping wet, I hung it out smoothly on the line, and, while it was still damp, ironed it on the wrong side over braid and all; and my dress is almost as good as new."

TO MAKE baking powder, proceed thus: Put half a pound of ground rice into a bowl with a quarter pound of carbonate of soda, mix well together and then add three ounces of pure tartaric acid. Both soda and acid must be freed from lumps, by crushing with a broad bladed knife or spoon on a piece of paper. When the rice, soda and acid are well mixed, sift them through a wire sieve or a fine strainer and put away in two small tin boxes with close fitting lids. Use one teaspoonful of this to each pound of flour required by your recipes. All such powder must be kept very dry.
